1. Healthcare policy and health sector updates

1.1. NHS dental patient charges

From April, NHS patient dental charges rose by 5%, prompting claims from the BDA that the Government was charging patients a 'stealth tax'. Henrik Overgaard-Nielsen, chair of the GDPC at the BDA, said: "When patients put in more towards their care than the Government pays to provide it, NHS charges cease to be a 'fair contribution' and become a bad joke."

1.2. Differences in access to restorative dentistry

A survey into how restorative dentistry is paid for has found wide disparity in the funding of the service in the UK, which leads to variations in the service provided. The survey was undertaken by Restorative Dentistry-UK (<https://www.bsrd.org.uk/>), via a questionnaire sent to providers of restorative dentistry (both teaching and district general hospitals).

1.3. Sugar Tax introduction

Early April saw the introduction of the long-awaited Sugar Tax (Soft Drinks Industry Levy (Enforcement) Regulations 2018), which is aimed at tackling the growing obesity problem in the UK. Although widely welcomed, it left some in the dentistry sector disappointed that no funds from the expected tax bounty had been earmarked for oral health education or for action to reduce the impact of sugar on teeth.

1.4. GDPR

Ahead of the introduction of new data protection regulations on 25 May, a number of sector publications ran awareness-raising articles including The Dentist and Dentistry

1.5. NHS staff pay deal

In March, union leaders and ministers reached an agreement on pay rises worth at least 6.5% over three years, which NHS workers will vote on before the summer. Although the deal does not apply to dentists, the BDA has stated that this should set a precedent for dentists in the future. Maintaining that NHS dentists have experienced a real-terms pay cut of 35% over the last decade, the BDA argues that many NHS practices are struggling to recruit.

However, a further Dentistry story in March quoted National Association of Specialist Dental Accountants and Lawyers (NASDAL) figures which showed average net profit per principal have increased for most for NHS dentists.

1.6. Recognition rules for EU GPs to change after March 29 2019

NHS England has published guidance which states that the qualifications of GPs from the EU who qualify before 29 March 2019 will be recognised.

NHS England is aiming to recruit 600 international GPs over 2018-19, but neither the national commissioner nor the Department of Health and Social Care has been able to clarify whether their qualifications will be recognised after this date.

The BMA has raised concerns about the implications Brexit may have for GP recruitment and the “potential barriers” that could be in place from April 2019.

1.7. Kings' Fund finds increase in people willing to pay more tax for NHS

The King's Fund has analysed the latest data from the British Social Attitudes (BSA) survey on public attitudes to NHS funding and the quality of care provided by the NHS. The survey available at: <https://www.kingsfund.org.uk/publications/does-public-see-tax-rises-answer-nhs-funding-pressures> was conducted between July and October 2017, with a representative sample of adults in England, Scotland and Wales.

Its key findings are:

- The public are increasingly anxious about the state of the NHS and there is widespread support for tax rises to increase funding.
- There is a growing consensus of an NHS funding crisis, with a 14% increase in the number of respondents saying that the service faces a major or severe funding problem (since 2014).
- 61% of respondents supported tax rises to increase NHS funding, up 21% from 2014, and 12% from 2016.
- 35% of respondents supported a separate tax that would go direct to the NHS; 26% would be happy to pay more through their existing taxes.

A majority of respondents supported tax increases to pay for the NHS, across all age and income groups.

1.8. More EU nurses leaving the NMC Register, but increases in UK and non-EU registrants

The NMC (Nursing and Midwifery Council) has published data showing a ‘significant rise’ in the number of EU nurses and midwives leaving the register. Between April 2017 and March 2018, 3,962 people left, an increase of 29% on the previous year. There has also been a decrease in the number of EU nurses joining the register, with 805 EU nurses and midwives joining over the same period, compared with 6,382 for the previous period, a decrease of 87%.

Figures appear to be stabilising for UK-trained nurses and midwives, with numbers at their highest for four years, and 4,034 fewer people leaving over the 2017/18 period.

There has been a rise in the number of nurses and midwives joining the register from outside the EU, with 1,093 more nurses and midwives on the register compared to March 2017.

1.9. NHS Improvement (England) to investigate NHS staff communication

NHS Improvement has established a new group to investigate verbal communication errors between NHS staff that cause patient safety incidents. The work has been launched by Celia Ingham Clark, the interim national patient safety director, to consider how poor communication can cause mistakes in care, as well as developing solutions. Its establishment was prompted by a number of patient safety incidents reported to the NHSI patient safety team, in which poor communication was possibly a factor.

The group is expected to be publishing a report in the summer, setting out its main findings. A second phase will then look at possible solutions.

1.10. New NHS Plan for England will address health inequalities

NHS England is developing a 5 to 10-year plan for the NHS, that will focus on reducing health inequalities, following its announcement by the Prime Minister in April. Simon Stevens, Chief Executive of NHS England, presented on the plan at the organisation's April board meeting, and referenced a recently published NHS England board paper on the issue.

The paper identified a difference of up to 20 years in healthy life expectancy between the most deprived and least deprived areas of the country. In men, healthy life expectancy was 51.9 years in the most deprived areas, compared to 70.4 years in the least deprived. For women, it was 51.8 and 70.7 years respectively.

4. Major political issues

Event	Associated dates	Why this matters	Effects	GDC activity
UK exit from European Union	8 May 2018: Apparent Cabinet (and wider Tory Party) wrangles continue in relation to the UK's relationship to the Single Market, with the most recent splits emerging between No. 10 and Foreign Secretary Boris Johnson. It continues to be Labour's position that the UK should remain in a customs union http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-44035676. 30 April 2018: The House of Lords voted in favour of an amendment to the EU Withdrawal Bill which aims to ensure Parliament has the final say on the UK's exit from the EU. The Bill is due to return to Parliament later in May, when the Government will try to overturn the amendment http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/uk-politics-43960448	Dominates government and parliamentary time, squeezing time available for health and regulatory matters UK exit from EU has (yet unknown) consequences for the ability to recruit healthcare professionals to the NHS and to regulate health professionals	UK	Applying to GDC constitutional group
English local elections	3 May 2018: Local elections in England were held in all 32 London boroughs, 34 metropolitan boroughs, 67 district and borough councils and 17 unitary authorities. There were also direct elections for the mayoralties of Hackney, Lewisham, Newham, Tower Hamlets and Watford. UKIP was the major casualty in the polls losing 123 seats and retaining only 3. Beside this, there were few major triumphs or disasters. Opposition parties traditionally do well in mid-term elections, but the lack of a significant swing has led to some commentators suggesting the parties have not found a way to bridge the divisions revealed in the EU referendum. https://www.theguardian.com/politics/2018/may/05/local-election-results-all-parties-gain-political-deadlock Other results: Conservatives lost 33 seats, Labour gained 77 seats, Liberal Democrats gained 75 seats, Greens gained 8 seats	Often seen as indicative of national voting sentiment	England
